OKTOBERFEST RAISES £14,000 FOR OUR SCHOOL

by the Chronicle Team

Oktoberfest 2021 took place this year on September 25th, after a year's break due to coronavirus. Hundreds of people from the local community joined teachers, students and parents for a wonderful day of sausages, music, German culture, and of course, beer!

The Mog Chronicle press gang didn't miss the chance to get out and about to interview guests (in between serving delicious lemonade!)

The lemonade stall

Miss Orla: "I love it! It's my first time and I've had a great time so far. Everyone is together. There is cake. I love to see the kids not wearing uniforms. I love the German outfits and people's hair!"

Miss Georgia: "I like being able to relax with the children and not be a teacher, not have to tell people off"

Miss Katie: "It's a really good time to do it. It feels like an end of summer party, after the awful few years we've had. It's outside and the food is great. It's bringing together traditions from the UK and Germany. It must be really nice for the families who aren't able to get back to Germany and who are missing this time of year at home"

VQX PQPS

Izzy (with Elsa): “I like to play with my friends. I like the German traditions and finding out what people do on this day. I love the food!”

Lea (parent of Felix Year 2): “It’s really nice to meet people connected with the school. The teachers and children can celebrate after such a long time of not being able to socialize. The food is lovely. Especially the streusekuchen. It’s very crumbly and buttery. I love the decorations, it’s so nice to see all the lovely lights on at night. It’s really pretty and special”.

From the frontline of the lemonade stall by Lula

It was not at all fun because there was so much confusion. It quickly became crowded.

It was £1 if you already had a cup but £2 if you had to buy the cup.. Then people started saying our sign was wrong!

ROTTEN SKITTLES

These zombie skittles may look harmless from the out side but in the inside of these packets have some flavours that are known to be "repulsive". Unfortunately, those have the same colour as the regular flavours so you don't know which one to avoid.

The Big Debate

Have you ever wondered what happens to your old Christmas tree when the festive season is over? Most people throw their old trees in the waste and never think about them again,

But is it better to have a plastic tree?

Evie Galbraith reports

The case for Plastic trees:

Plastic trees can be used again year after year. You don't have to cut down a tree to decorate your house. But plastic trees do not biodegrade so when they come to the end of their life they still have to be thrown away.

The case for Real trees:

They absorb CO2 while they are growing. They are 'sustainable' because new trees are planted every year. But they have to be thrown away and turned to wood chip, and plantations take space away from native woodlands.

You decide

We interviewed 32 students and teachers to get their views about whether a plastic or real tree was better

Plastic trees
31.3%

Real trees
68.8%

The Enchanted Book, a story by Clarissa

In a world like no other, a girl called Isabella was sleeping peacefully in her nice warm bed. Suddenly, her mum burst into her room and shouted in a hurry "Your late for school Isabella!!". A few minutes later, Isabella sprung out her bed in a hurry, she put on her uniform, ran down stairs and softly said "Good morning mum!" Lucy (Isabella's mum) was cooking breakfast. Lucy put the delicious pancakes on their dining table, turned around and saw Isabella, Isabella was already sitting at the table with her knife and fork ready to eat! Lucy sat at the table and said "Good morning!", Isabella replied with a sleepy "Hello". They got their plates, Isabella got the maple syrup and chocolate spread. She put the condiments on the table and Lucy quickly snatched the chocolate spread as Isabella took the chocolate spread and spread it across the pancake. Once Isabella was done she put her coat on and shoes and back pack then opened the door and shouted "BYE MUM". There was no reply but she left for school anyways. When her tiring day of learning was done she sprinted back home. When she got home she threw her back pack frantically on the sofa and ran to the kitchen where her mom usually was. Isabela walked in and an instant smell entered her nose, it was so irresistible that she peered over her mum's shoulder to see what she was cooking. Lucy turned around and in surprise sweetie!", Isabela replied in a welcoming "hello". Isabela cheerfully said whilst sniffing the food "I'm cooking a delicious chocolate cake and some pasta for dinner". Isabella cheerfully shouted "YAY!!, thank you mum" whilst jumping up and down.

After their conversation, Isabela ran upstairs and entered her room. Her room was a beautifully well sized room with a stunning double bed, she had beautiful white sheets and two large pillows. She even had a snuggly pink blanket and a desk made out of oak. Isabela jumped on her bed, opened up her laptop and logged into YouTube.

After a few minutes, her mum called "dinner", Isabela ran down stairs eager to eat dinner went into the kitchen and sat at the table. Her mum served the pasta and they ate. Lucy asked Isabela "Where would you want to go if I went away?", Isabela answered "Well probably grandma's house, Why?". Lucy trembled "well I'm going on a work trip and I'm sorry but your going to have to stay with grandma for a bit..", Isabela trembled nooooo please mum don't go 😊. Lucy said I'm sorry but its for my job, dad is away working too, and besides its only one month.., "ONE MONTH, NOOO!!". Isabela ran upstairs crying (as her mum had never been away without her), she slammed her bedroom door closed. Lucy ran upstairs after her daughter and opened her door, she softly said "I'm sorry but your going to have to go, come on pack your bags and we'll go eat my delicious chocolate cake." Isabela mumbled "fine". Isabela got her bag and packed it with all her essentials. Once she was done, she went downstairs and sat at their table in the kitchen. Isabela softly said "I'm ready to eat mum". She ate the cake went to the lounge, and watched a movie.

A while later, Isabela went up stairs to get ready for bed. She brushed her teeth, washed her face and climbed into bed. Lucy came to Isabela's room and said "good night sweetie". But by the time Isabela was already asleep.

It was morning and Lucy was coming to her daughters room to wake her up. Lucy entered Isabela's room at 7:30am sharp.

She walked in a tip-toed to her bed, she whispered "It's time to wake up sweetie!". Lucy shook Isabella so that she would wake up. She woke up and to her surprise it was 8am. She immediately got out of bed, put on her clothes and she was downstairs like the speed of light. She said "Hello" to her mum and ate her breakfast quickly. Lucy said angrily "I thought you were awake", Isabella said "Sorry I was so tired!". She got up and grabbed a banana and an apple, and hugged her mum tight; "I'm going to miss you!". She walked out with her bags and got into her grandma's car. The journey was long and she fell asleep. Once they got there, Mirabelle (Isabella's grandma), showed her the room. It was in the attic. It had boxes full of books, and there was a bed and a TV. Isabella said "Wow it's amazing". "It is old" said Mirabelle. Isabella was interested so she opened a box of books, it was separate from the rest and in it she found an ancient book. She opened it and suddenly she heard a voice saying "Follow the book's directions!". Isabella screamed in fear! Even though she was scared she followed the book. She went downstairs and told her grandma she was going out to the shops. It was a lie but her grandma said yes. Isabella was curious where the book was going to lead her. After a while she was in a forest. It was getting dark, but she was determined. She kept going until there was a big brick wall. Little did she know that the book was enchanted. She turned around but behind her there were 3 passages. She didn't know which way to go. She chose the passage on the left, hoping it was the correct one. The book's voice said "Stay here someone will find you!". Isabella was so scared but she kept walking, and eventually she came to a town, but it had no people in it. Did she die? No of course not, but she went to an orphanage and never saw her family again. The end.
